1. Introduction

This class examines the culture associated with for-profits, non-profits, government agencies and a variety of other organizations in today's hyper-competitive economy. Doing so provides students with various opportunities to better understand their field placement by identifying observing, analyzing and judging how the organization in which they are working displays its personality. Students will complete a variety of professional development exercises, discuss readings that focus on specific topics relevant for leaders, managers and others within an organization, present their observations and create a customized plan outlining what type of entity they would like to work for as they launch their career.

2. Course Objectives

- ?1. Understand the current thinking on the components of organizational culture, how culture affects what people do, and how the culture can be influenced.
- ?2. Develop skills in OB research in fieldwork settings
- ?3. Develop skills in working in teams
- ?4. Develop skills in oral presentation

3. Class types and activities

To achieve the goals established above, the course meetings will combine short lectures, class discussions, individual and group exercises and student presentations. Classes are designed to be as interactive as possible and provide you with the opportunity to apply key concepts.
